Designed a SQL database schema based on the twitter platform through the Java Database Connectivity API (JDBC) that enacts a stored procedure in SQL/PSM(Procedural language for stored procedures) that performs a set of update delete and alter statements followed by an embedded query in java that returns the total number of defined bad users before and after the stored procedure is performed.